KOOKMAN

KOOKMAN takes the journey of a wannabe pro surfer. With a satirical look at surf culture the film looks at the ways in which peer pressure can lead us astray from our true desires and identity. A documentary, a mocumentary, and a film that takes real life events and twists them into a bazaar tragic comedy.

Tony Mason is a Melbournian who entered the realm of movie making with his short film '131.9 cents per litre' which went on to win numerous awards including 'The Billabong Panasonic Surfshorts' It led to the creation of Kookman.

Session Time – 7.30pm (both nights)

Tickets (prebook through SurfWorld Museum, Torquay)

Adults - $15
